

A Very Merry Season

Report to the members of the Society on the tea-parties held between March and November, the guests who came, and the money that was spent on cups, saucers and the hire of the long table.

Approved on 14 November 1916

Guests this season: 1,240. The Hatter was present at every party and the Dormouse at most of them. Tea was poured on 41 of 60 days; on the remaining days the clock stood at six and the cups were not washed.

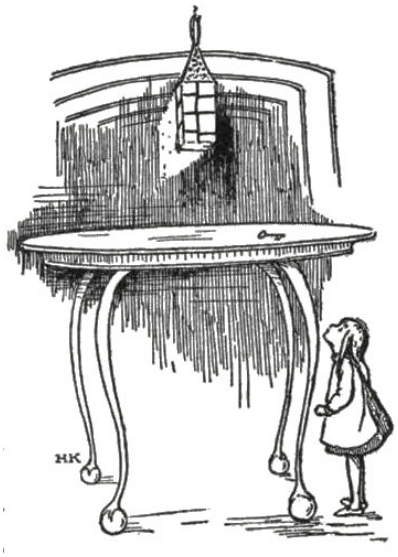

Guests and attendance

The March Hare kept the register. Each guest signed once, though several signed twice, and one guest signed with a spoon. The table below counts only signatures that could be read.

Month	Parties	Guests	Cups broken
March	6	148	3
April	8	201	5
May	9	232	4
June	9	245	6
July	10	252	7
August	8	162	2

Seating was arranged by the Hatter, who held that any seat is a good seat provided it is not the one you are in. Complaints about seating may be sent to the Hatter at hatter@example.org or by telephone on (555) 0187.

A short card from the Duchess reads: the best way to keep order is to keep a pepper-pot.

Accounts

The Society spent most of its money on tea and the rest on repairing what the tea had damaged. The treasurer paid the hire of the table with the Society card, and asks that no one write the number on the back of the table again.

Tea, bread and butter	212.40
Table hire	90.00
Cups and saucers	38.75
Printing of invitations	24.00
Total	365.15

Payment details on file

The books were audited on 2 December 1916 and found to be in order, except for the page on which the Dormouse had fallen asleep.

Next season

Parties will resume in March. The Society proposes a second long table, a quieter cook and a clock that agrees with itself.

Members who wish to host a party should write to the Secretary before 1 February 1917. Bookings are made on the first come, first served basis, and the Hatter will not be consulted.
